

LARSEN STRINGS

for Viola — 'It's all about the music' —

Larsen Aurora Fractional for Viola

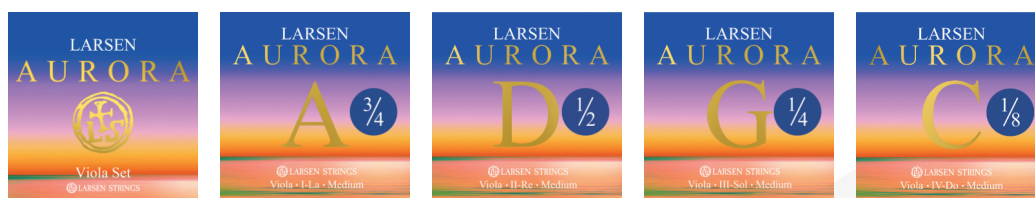

Aurora Fractional Viola strings deliver a clear, focused sound with impressive projection, even on smaller instruments. Their tonal qualities combine warmth and brilliance, allowing for a rich depth of expression. The strings maintain a balanced and even tone across all registers, making them suitable for both developing technique and exploring more advanced musical nuances.

Aurora Fractional strings are designed to give you the same outstanding quality and performance as the full-size versions, now tailored for smaller instruments. Whether you're just starting out or further along in your studies, these strings provide a balanced, vibrant sound across all sizes - ideal for your musical growth.

Available in sizes from 3/4 to 1/8, Aurora Fractional Viola strings offer a responsive, professional-grade experience to help you build your skills with confidence. They deliver a smooth, even response that makes bow control easier, so you can explore dynamic ranges and refine your technique. The balanced tension ensures a comfortable playing experience, letting you focus on your progress, as you explore dynamic ranges and different bowing techniques.

Carefully crafted with durable nylon cores and premium materials, these strings are made to last. Aurora Fractional strings adapt to your playing style with a neutral sound profile and quick, effortless response, so you can focus on playing without worrying about handling. They offer a remarkable blend of warmth and clarity, allowing you to express a wide range of tonal colours. Whether in daily practice or performance, these strings help you unlock the full potential of your instrument.

With Aurora Fractional Viola strings, you can enjoy a professional-quality sound from the very start of your journey. They offer reliability and durability, ensuring consistent sound as you develop. These strings give you the precision, depth and resonance you need, offering an affordable yet high-quality option for players at any level.
